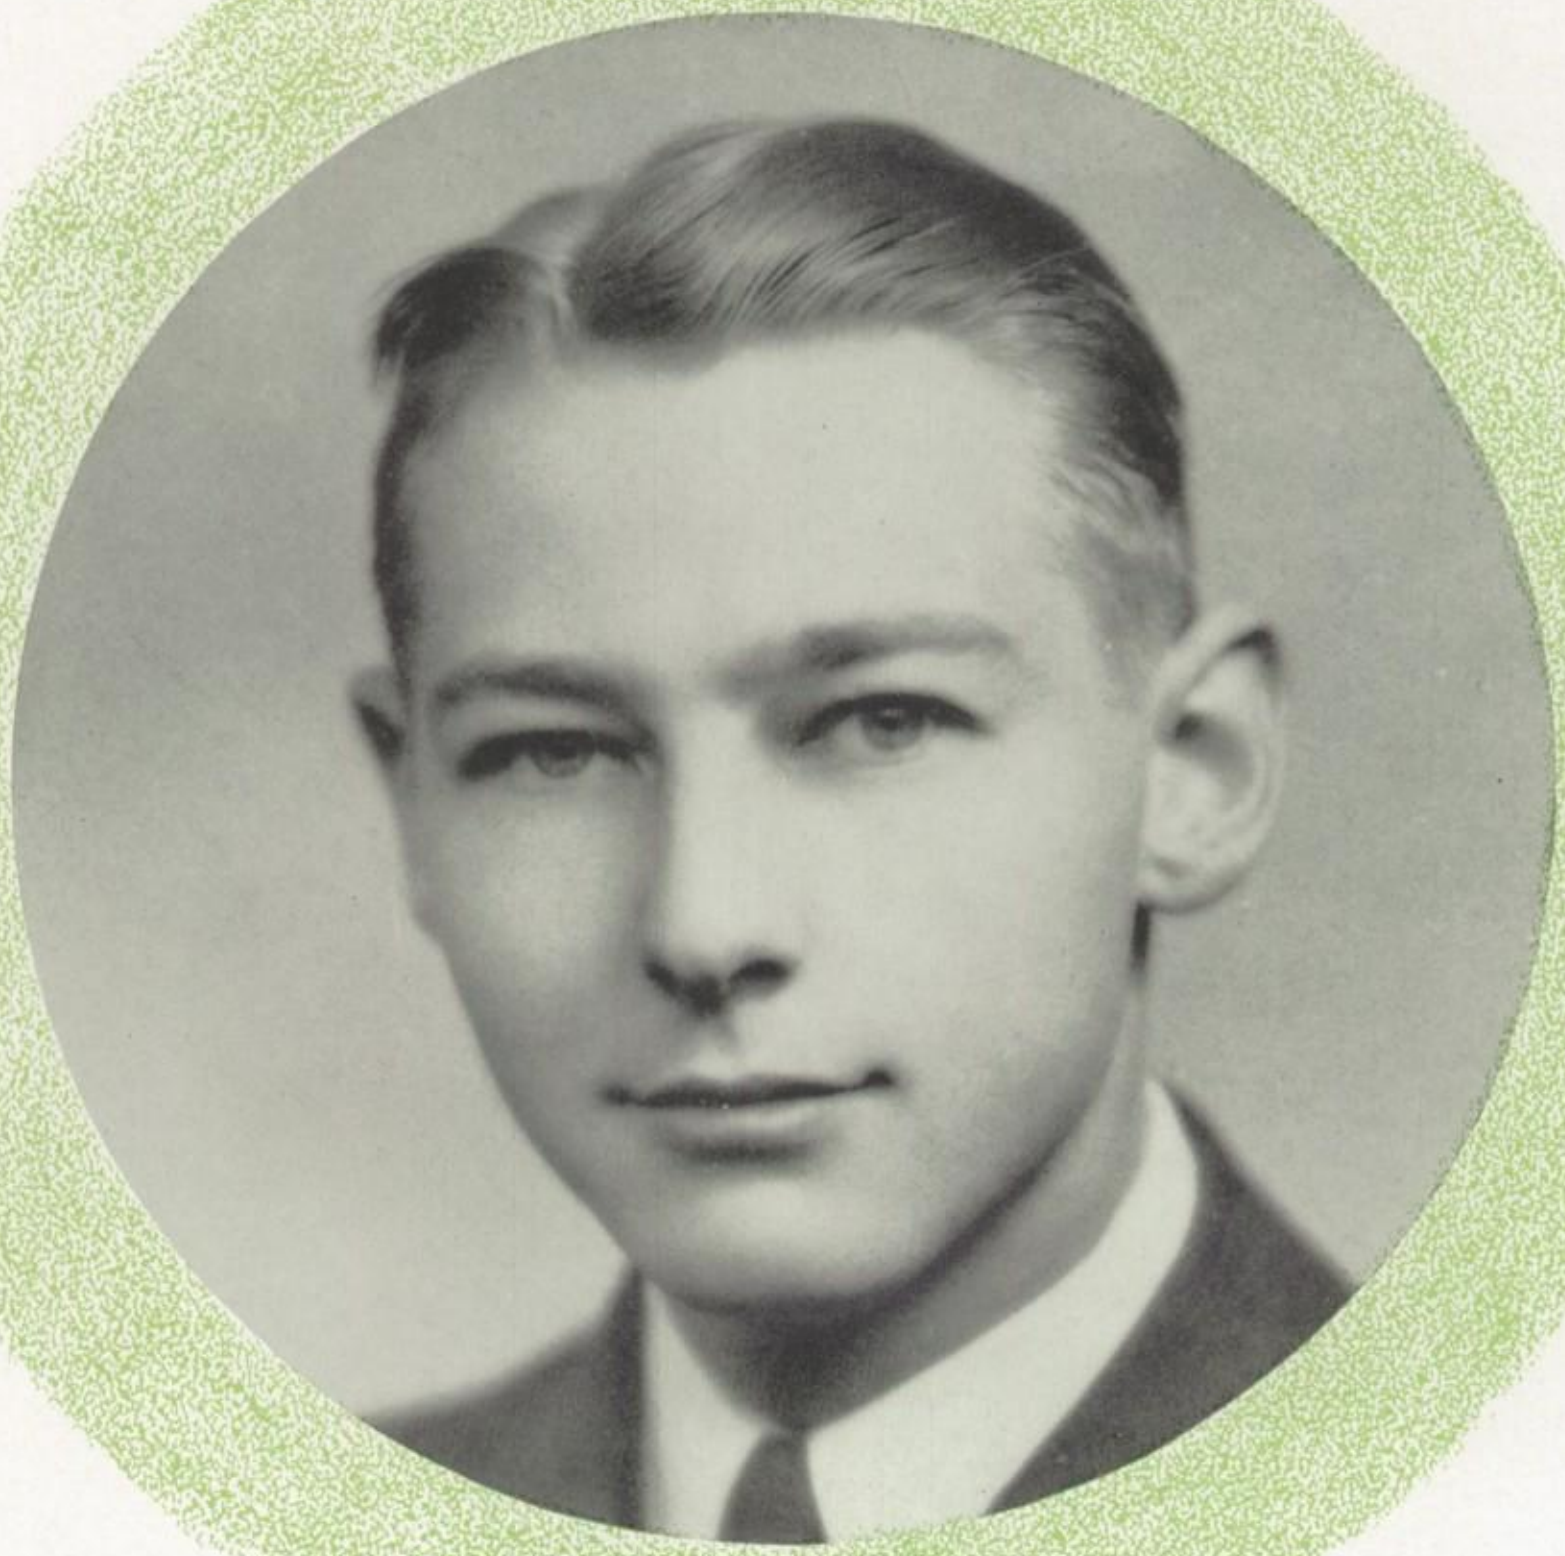
Doodling

A PICTORIAL EXPRESSION OF THE

PAST YEAR'S ACTIVITIES IN SCHOOL



WILLIAM SHELLENBERGER ★

DEDICATION

Our Friend and Leader . . . .

★ We respectfully dedicate this edition of the Chimrock, as a humble appreciation of his untiring efforts, to William Shellenberger.

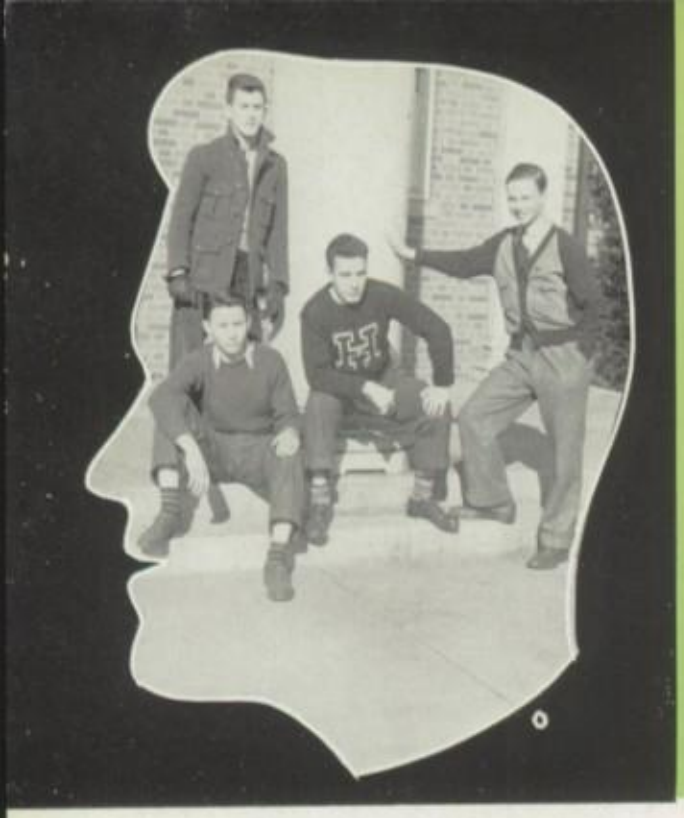
Mr. Shellenberger, faculty manager in athletics, has always given the boys of our teams the best that money can buy, not only in equipment but also in medical care and safe transportation.

He teaches American history. Every student who has taken the course will remember him not only because of his unique way of getting ideas across but also for his ready council and advice. He has always tried to inspire us toward the goal of highest achievement, for which we are grateful.

Mr. Shellenberger is a rare type of doodler. His doodling, apparently blank stares into space for several minute intervals, has been seen and will be remembered by all. Perhaps during these he designed our annual melodrama, the best entertainment of the year.—His willing help in all of our activities is meagerly rewarded by thus publicly expressing our gratitude.



Doodling . . . . . .

Doodling is on the up-swing. The wastepaper baskets and the janitors have been suffering from overwork; the tablets have run out long before the end of each six weeks period; pencils have been worn to stumps; caricatures and works of art appear everywhere. Join the "doodle" parade

FOREWORD

★ Hi! Everybody. Doodling sounds like a silly theme for a yearbook, doesn't it? Year book staffs usually use, as a theme, some ponderous subject like, "The Seven Cardinal Principles of Education", or "School Subjects". But you know our staff! Formality would kill us, for we are still kids. Honest and truly we had Mr. Jones worried. He thought we would never find a theme that suited us, and, as you know, yearbooks must come out on time. In order to give us ideas he searched everywhere and got all the dope he could; yet at each new suggestion from any member of the staff the rest of us all groaned. No one on the staff knew what she or he wanted, but we all knew what we didn't want. We didn't want a book in which we had to write like Voltaires or Edgar Allen Poes, or one in which all the pictures were arranged like those in a history book. We didn't want anything formal; that was a cinch. So, meeting after meeting, we sat and doodled away on scraps of paper. Blank was the expression on all faces, except for an occasional glimmer which soon faded away. Finally somebody said, "Why not use doodling? We've done enough of it." Silence reigned while the idea was sinking through our thick skulls. Although someone inquired, "What's doodling?", the staff knew this was what we wanted, for here was something that was informal, yet universally done. So—that is how Doodling became the theme of the eighteenth edition of the Chimrock. Come along with our staff as we doodle in words and pictures the activities of Hollidaysburg Senior and Junior High Schools during the 1940-41 school year.

Contents . . .

Our book has been divided into three parts, School, Athletics, and Activities. It is a picture parade of these main groups of school life. Each section, being filled with lots of pictures of the students, of the faculty, and of the administration of our school, shows the varied programs which the modern high school is giving to its student along with the three R's.

School

★ Whether your name is Jack, Jill, Peggy, Bob, Bill, or Nancy, you are sure to find yourself in this division. Here too are the faculty and the administration of both senior and junior high schools. Surely this is one section of the book that no-one can afford to miss!

Athletics

★ Thrilling shots from the Tyrone football game, poses by the basketball team, the feats of the track squad, and lots of action shots make the athletic section the most exciting division of our book and a "must" in your examination of it.

Activities

★ Chimrock, H-Burger, Student Council, Safety Council, a lot of "off-time" shots, and—golly, I could go on and on naming other activities, but I don't have the space. You had better read all about them in the activities section which is packed with action pictures of you.

Academic Problems

★ This may be called the most representative section of the book. We are all here, in form. We, without a doubt, were blushing when the picture was snapped, but here's hoping that it looks at least half decent in the finished product. The pupils, as well as the faculty, were all "dolled-up" the day the photographer came to visit us. The administration and faculty were very lenient with us that same day. They all wanted us to look our best—in a happy mood. If you will look through this portion of the book, you are bound to see yourself.

Prove A Challenge To Students

Administration

"The meeting will please come to order. Let's stop our visitation and get down to the business of the day." These might well be the words of Homer I. Smith, president of Hollidaysburg School Board, as he opens the monthly meeting of the Board.

The Hollidaysburg School Board, like other similar organizations throughout the state, has a diversified membership which ably represents the citizens of the community. The following compose the local board: Homer I. Smith, Dr. J. W. Stitzel, Dr. Ira Mitterling, Harvey N. Hyle, William H. Wade, Eugene Hamill, and John E. Shrum. These men, who give their time without compensation, are elected by the parents to represent them in matters where education is concerned. Miss Blanche M. Davis acts as secretary of the Board.

At the meetings there is no time for doodling, but only for work and thought as there are many school problems to consider. Not only does the Board select a well-trained and experienced faculty, and fix the tax rate in order to meet the needs of the budget, but it does everything from supplying a student with pencils to making up the athletic programs.

Hobson C. Wagner, superintendent of schools, is present at all the meetings and sees that the decisions and policies of the board are carried out in the best possible way. Both the Superintendent and the Board are dependent upon each other, and through their cooperation have taken care of everything in a very efficient progressive manner.

Ably assisting Mr. Wagner as executive officers are Dolan H. Loree, principal of senior high school, and J. Harry Henshaw, principal of junior high school.

Mr. Loree is a principal of many duties. Planning schedules, which is one of his greatest tasks, takes most of his time during the summer months. It involves a lot of foresight to put every student in the right place, in the right course, at the right time. Eventually, however, his plans are completed and all arrangements perfected for the coming term. Guidance, tardiness, and faculty meetings keep him a very busy man. The guidance programs give each pupil assistance in meeting problems. Mr. Loree has great patience and is always willing to help everyone out of difficulty.

The problems of Mr. Henshaw may be likened to the children of the old woman who lived in the shoe, too numerous to mention, but they all come under the classification of work. Difficult as is his task, evidently his compensation is in its successful performance. To bring the work and activity of his school to intimate relationship with that of the senior high school is his main ambition.

This view of the administration, gives evidence that they have worked to the best interests and made the life of the school a pleasant one, physically, mentally, and socially. How can it help being successful?

Teachers Create Friendly Atmosphere

The faculty at Hollidaysburg is a modern one. Everyone of our teachers is skilled in his or her job, but this skill does not include the stiffness and the sternness of the old professors. Each of them acts toward his students as human beings. Now not only is the classroom informal, but the teacher also mixes freely in his leisure time and takes part in student activities.

So, here at Hollidaysburg High School, instead of the dreary silences that used to follow an instructor's explanation, questions galore fly at every teacher in our school, and, swamped or not, they try to answer them. Pupils are made to feel perfectly free in these questions. Although some funny ideas pop up, it makes the explanation clear to all. Teachers mix with the students at our basketball and football games and no certain section is reserved, "just for the faculty". In fact, no teacher would like this for he finds that pupils work better when they know their instructor is a "regular fellow".

As far as activities go—why, Miss Harpster can be seen any noontime gamely trying to beat some of her "little ones" (They usually win!) at ping-pong. Both the members of the junior high faculty and those of senior high can be often found at the "Y" bowling either among themselves or with some students. Such activity on the part of the faculty not only amuses them, but it also develops the student in such a way that he is not afraid to say what he wants to in class. Certainly these actions on the part of the teachers are a great asset.

The men teachers of our combined faculties present to the school one of its best entertainments,—The Variety Show!!! Surely no Broadway production could bring as many laughs as a chorus of men teachers "showing off", or a group of them in a melodrama.

The school can depend on the faculty to support it! The first subscribers to the activities tickets were the teachers. Following their example the students bought over four hundred!! In The Junior High Circus Mr. Tschop made a spectacular ringleader; Mr. Thompson with his tin pan band was the laugh hit of the show; and Mrs. Swallow's animal act was terrifying.

With as great a faculty as we have at H-Burg, it is easy to see why every student is able to call his teacher more than "professor". Because he is better able to understand, through his individualism, the things his instructor wants, he is better able to get a well-rounded education.

A Day at School with Jim Senior

"Gosh, it's late, mom! I haven't time to eat." And with these words we see Jim fairly tumbling out of the door, a coat dangling in some odd, twisted manner to his shoulder and a couple of books under his arm.

Since we last saw him, Jim has gone about a block and has met some of his chums. They go leisurely on their way until within a short distance of school when they decide it is pretty late. But from that point they can be seen running to avoid the zero hour.

After reporting to homeroom, he is ready for the first period, trig. About fifteen minutes have passed and we find him reveling in the fact that he is the first to get the correct answer to a proposition. But time flies and when the bell rings, Jim fairly races for the door. Small wonder! The second period he takes gym. In less time than it takes to say it, our sedate senior is dressed and running across the gym floor, all ready for an hour of fun.

From what we see, we gather that tumbling is his meat, for he is rolling and cavorting about on the mats in a manner which makes us close our eyes, hold our breath, and hope for the best.

After we get him safely out of the gym, we see him to P. O. D., English, and the cafeteria. There we gasp in astonishment at how much he can eat in such a short time, for the first thing we know, he has found his way to Archery Club where he busies himself making a bow.

Ah, but the next period—that's what he has been waiting for—study hall. Here he reflectively passes the time scribbling on paper. After he leaves, we casually pick up the paper and examine it. At first it seems to contain some odd hieroglyphics, but we eventually make out prom, class party—April, Chimrock dedication, basketball, Jean, and, in large heavily penciled letters, the word "graduation".

The Chief Doodlers

Leaders Doodle a Variety of Patterns

Among those who doodle in Hollidaysburg High School, the class of 1941 boasts many true kings and queens.

Leadership qualities are sometimes inherited; other times acquired. By what means these people received the quality of leadership is important only in applauding the work which they accomplished through it. Truly hereditary, however, will be the inspiration of their achievements which will be handed down to the following classes.

In the whirl of school activities, the chief doodlers, by projecting their individual, senior personalities into the work, have carefully doodled the plans that formed the sturdy spokes of the wheel of school life.

In the study of graphology in Hollidaysburg High School there are many senior handwritings which, when dissected, would show doodlings of particular skill in varied fields.

Tall, slender Paul McDermitt excels as president of the Student Council, and his doodlings emphasize the governmental spirit of this body and perhaps the steps of noontime dancing, popular project of the Student Council.

There is no draftsman, no author, or no poet who would not envy the master sketches doodled by the editor and assistant-editor of the Chimrock. The below, respectively John Woodcock and Peggy Wolf, have given their time, their hopes, and their abilities to the publication of this book.

The entire school has seen the "doodling on the wall", meaning the H-Burger, which proclaims a future career in journalism that will harness the talents of Mary Jane McDonnell.

To Francis Bender, as safety commissioner, goes the credit for the sturdy "patterns of safety" which have protected the lives of all the students of this district.

Neat columns of dollars plus the "sense" of Margaret Hoover have kept the school treasury in perfect working order.

Cletus Miller, Mary Jane McDonnell, and Lloyd Suter, within the National Honor Society, have formed a great triumvirate and joined handwritings to doodle a diameter of honor which was drawn around the entire school and its activities.

Thus is seen that royalty, in its own right, entered Hollidaysburg to doodle the scroll of good-will, good leadership, and good work to all generations that follow.

OFFICERS

Juniors Engage in Many Activities

Quantity and quality. That is usually a rare combination, for where we find quantity we seldom find quality in so large a group. The class of 1942, although large in number, two hundred twenty-eight students to be exact, really has quality. This was proved by the various achievements attributed to them during the past year. Regardless of what type of endeavor, be it academic, social, or athletic, this group of juniors really "hit par" or better.

Take, for instance, the academic side. In March the National Honor Society held its induction of new members, six of whom belonged to this outstanding class. Those favored beings were Dan Koon, Mary Jane Keith, Dorothy McKee, Jean Metzler, Stanley (Bud) Brua, and Dolores Irwin. To become a member, the very first thing they had to do was prove their academic worth. A high percentage of the group received high or comparatively high marks as was readily attested by their report cards at the end of each six weeks marking period.

Also under the academic heading we find the work done on the H-Burger. Here again quality and quantity went hand in hand. On the staff we found Kate Carrier, "Dolly" Irwin, Mary Jane Keith, "Ditty" Preston, Earle Rice, and "Dorie" Shaffer. Do you remember reading those sizzling features, sports items, and editorials? More than one of them can be laid at the feet of the juniors. In fact some of them rated so high as to be permitted to attend the state press conference held in Pittsburgh and the Blair County Press conference held at Altoona High School.

But high academic ability is not of much use without personality and a social aptitude, particularly in this day and age. It didn't take long for the juniors to realize this fact and the first things we knew they began to "step out" socially. December was an eventful month, for at that time they held what was termed a very successful class party. The decorations were suitable to the time of the year.

On the dance floor at noontime, at dances held by Chimrock and Student Council, and at the "Y" it wasn't hard to pick out the juniors. In fact it was a pleasure just to sit back and watch them.

A little different aspect of their social ability could be seen at the Farm Show. Several of the Future Farmers traveled with Mr. Bressler to Harrisburg and were very proud of the fact that they won prizes.

There were very few juniors not enrolled in at least one club, and the Student Council and Safety Council were proud of some of these hard working students enrolled in their groups. In several instances juniors were selected as officers of these organizations.

The names of all those who were musically inclined are too numerous to mention here, but again the first word that pops into our mind is quality. The band, orchestra, and chorus all had their share of juniors. Of course you will remember those two comely individuals who "strutted their stuff" before the band at all the football games. Folks, they were none other than juniors, Doris Claycomb and Madeline Baker. Nor was the minstrel lacking in members of this talented group.

"A howling success." That was the description of the annual junior class play as reviewed by the H-Burger. The title was "Once There Was a Princess", and Dolly Irwin performed in the style of the princess she was supposed to be. Playing the male lead opposite her was Dick Krape. His role, that of a poor but hard working young fellow who had loved the princess even as a little girl, was well done and brought rounds of applause. On the whole, we agree with the H-Burger. It was a "howling success."

In every thing they did, the class of '42 was ably directed by the following officers:

president, Paul (Perce) Downing; vice president, Jim Bender; secretary-treasurer, "Ditty" Preston. These in turn were advised by Glenn Bressler.

But now we come to the subject near and dear to the heart of every Hollidaysburg High School student, athletics, including football, track, baseball, and basketball. It is a known fact that our football squad had a good season. In that struggle every minute of the time, never giving up or thinking of giving up for one minute were some plucky junior boys. They were Dick Brenner, Sam Long, Glen Lear, Joe Haller, Ken Moore, and Regis Piper.

Not to be outdone, our cagemen gave proof of their ability by becoming runner-up in the Mountain High League. Joe Haller, another junior, if you please, was high scorer in the league. Other boys who helped win laurels for the team were Bud Erb, Jack Hartsock, Jim Bender, and Stan Brua. The Jay Vees consisted of only juniors and sophomores.

Track found many devotees, and many of its successful tournaments were due to the hard work on the part of members of the junior class. Among those who participated in this sport were Simpson, Lear, Nale, Rice, Kline, Piper, Saupp, Heist, White, Youngkin, and Johnson.

The resumption of baseball gave many of the junior boys who were baseball addicts an opportunity to display their hidden talents. Benson, Smith, Brenner, Leberfinger, Lang, Erb, Hartsock, Metzler, and Haller were among the candidates for the team.

Quantity plus quality. We have been trying to show you how the class of 1942 excels in these two respects. If you were observant, you noticed this for yourself; but in case you were just a little doubtful, are you convinced now?

The Sophomore Class

One dictionary defines sophomores as being immature and conceited. How does this definition fit the class of '43? By following the members of the class from room to room as they go through their daily program, we may learn something.

In the halls we find their actions immature, for we see them chewing gum, pasting pictures on their locker doors, passing notes about, laughing or giggling, and whistling. Often in the classrooms and assembly we find actions which in them might be excused, but which would be horrifying in any other student group. They go about preparing their studies in a manner which, if they were more mature, would appear to them as time wasted. But they are not to be berated for these antics, for every sophomore class yet to enter the senior high has done exactly the same things and acted in exactly the same way.

The dictionary also defines them as being conceited. Let us consider some of the reasons for conceited sophomores. Looking over the record of their activities for the past year, we find various causes for braggartism and so-called swelled heads.

Athletically they showed great ability. Although they were new this year, three of their boys represented them on the football squad. They were Archie Black, Joe Brubaker, and Bob Rice. Black and Brubaker outshone a great many juniors and seniors by making first string. Bob Rice served his class by attaining a position as one of the first string varsity cagemen. By the end of the season he had become third high scorer in the school. This certainly helped the Burg team to the best record they have had in the last five years. Doesn't this athletic record permit a certain amount of rejoicing?

But wait, there is more to consider. Their record in leadership reveals that a girl may be selected as an executive and also that she may serve capably. Mary George was elected president; Jim Christy, vice president; Mary Lou Harmon, secretary; and Ken Suter, treasurer. Just picture the above-named officers coupled with Cyrus Thompson as adviser, and you have sufficient reason for some of the success the class achieved.

Not on the football squad but present at all the games were Arletta Saupp, Phil Mitterling, Jim Christy, Bill Winecoff, Miles Hollister, Betty Fowkes, Mary Lou Harmon, and Cal Lang, wearing the blue and white uniforms of the band. Other lively vivacious personalities to be found on hand at all athletic events were Peg Johnson, Virginia Williams, and Bill Miller, the sophomore cheerleaders.

But the activities of the sophomore class were not limited to those above named fields. Socially they were a great success. Late in December they held their class party, and they still look back on it with joy and fond remembrances. The decorations were festive as well as clever; the refreshments were delicious and one of the most highly appreciated details of the affair. The crowd was huge, and as the saying goes, "A good time was had by all."

After reading all that you are likely to think, "Ah yes, but what are the practical values and benefits of football, basketball, dances, and parties? Don't they ever study, or can it be that they just don't know how?" The adequate answer to that question is that their studies certainly never get the best of them. In spite of their shortcomings, their many commendable traits make us feel confident that this class will make a fine junior class.

Ninth Grade Becomes a Melting Pot

An immigration ship docking at Ellis Island would not bring a more diversified group of people to the United States, than did the arrival of the present ninth grade class at the junior high school on the opening day of school, September 7, 1940. Coming from Frankstown, Duncansville, Newry, and Hollidaysburg, and the townships of Blair, Logan and Frankstown, this group brought with them much talent and a variety of ideas. It did not take them long to mold themselves into a unified organization and begin to make a success of their undertakings. The following were chosen for leaders: Walter Lightner, Gloria Rutter, Roger Nowell, Bobbie Jean Sellers, Dewey Bardell, Ann Elliott, Norma Dodson, Jack Allen, Nancy Swope, Leah Fletcher, and Sally Gillette.

Just as the immigrants found a variety of interest in the new country, so did the ninth grade pupils find a diversified program awaiting them in junior high school. Among the many things found on this program were a variety of new subjects, clubs, athletics, assembly programs, and a host of social functions.

Soon after school opened, Coach Harvey Serfass issued a call for football candidates, and numerous ninth graders were soon found at daily practice at Dysart Park. Starring on the junior high team were Dewey Bardell, Bob Baronner, Lyn Beard, and Roger Nowell from the ninth grade. Speaking of stars, the basketball team must not be forgotten. Once again the ninth grade contributed a good share of the talent that helped make Hollidaysburg victorious. These boys were Dick Elliott, Dewey Bardell, Roger Nowell, and Ken Berkheimer. Although at the time this article is being written the call for track candidates has not been issued, it is safe to say that a large number of boys from this class will participate in this sport. The desire for athletic competition by the girls of this class has been more or less satisfied through the inter-squad competition in the physical education program.

Homeroom, club and assembly programs afford the non-athlete means of expressing his talent. The Phunology Club, the Model Airplane Club, and the Dramatic Club are only a few of the organizations devoted to satisfying the individual differences of the ninth grade class. In the homeroom programs each member had several opportunities to develop his talents.

Just as other classes before them have discovered, the present ninth grade group has found that it is necessary to develop the social as well as the academic and physical welfare of an individual. To do this, practically all of the ninth grade joined the dancing clubs, sponsored by Miss Gertrude Swanson and Miss Grace Fitts, in order to learn the fundamentals of dancing. In the opening of the year the senior gymnasium was the scene of the annual class party, and dancing was the feature attraction. This was proof that the dancing clubs met their purpose. Other social pastimes of this class were the many exciting hours spent in the game room. "Lusardi's", the "Y", and the student council parties were places where the members of this class socialized with their big "brothers" from the senior high school.

With the sports, dances, parties, and entertaining programs of the entire year, the ninth grade class felt that they had docked their ship at the right port at the right time.

The Eighth Grade

Football, basketball, track, dances, and many other activities engaged in by the eighth grade did not give them much time for doodling. This group found that extra-curricular activities of the junior high school combined with their scholastic program required diligent use of time and energy.

Class schedules had hardly been given out before the call for football candidates was heard by this group. Among those who answered the call were Gordon Kelly, Bob Miller, Bob Downing, Dean Rhodes, Dick Mentzer, Paul O'Shell, Berney Johnson, and Dick Satterfield. Football season was not over a week before those interested in basketball reported for practice. Eighth grade boys who traveled with the team were Bob Ritz, Dean Rhodes, Dick Mentzer, Curtis Cuff, Berney Johnson, and Ed Bardell. In spring many of the boys went out for track, and the class of "1945" came through with "flying colors".

While the above mentioned were devoting their time to athletic events, other members of the class were working diligently after school to prepare for home room programs and assembly programs. All in all, the whole class worked hard. This can be seen by the honor rolls which play such an important part in junior high, especially with the eighth grade. The scholarship honor roll is made up of all those students who have proved by their ability in school work that they are worthy of 90% or above, while the citizenship honor roll is that group of students who have received not less than "4" points on their citizenship report.

One of the outstanding achievements of the eighth grade class was the part taken in the junior high circus. Here could be found eighth grade members posing as hilarious clowns, who convulsed the audience, and once ferocious wild animals tamed to utter meekness.

Besides being hard workers, dependable in all tasks they undertook, the eighth grade class were also a playful type. They enjoyed dancing more than any other pastime.

They did dance a great deal, but most of their leisure time was spent in the library or in planning for school programs. These non-doodlers believed in spending their time wisely.

The Seventh Grade

Wasn't that a good program? Who ever thought that room 104 could depict a "Professor Quiz" program so well? Such were the opinions one heard as the junior high assembly was dismissed early in the '40-'41 school term. But, if we should only make a careful survey of not only room 104 but also room 202, the other seventh grade homeroom, we could easily understand why the program was so outstanding.

In these groups we find that there is much ability socially, athletically, and academically. At the junior high school dances we could find many seventh grade participants. Although none of their classmates were on the football or basketball teams, they again showed their social ability by becoming animated spectators.

Room 104 proudly points to the fact that its basketball players outshone those of room 202 in a number of intramural games. On the junior high school football squad, this group was ably represented by Hunter Swope and Jay McCardo.

The honor key, a scholastic award, for which the seventh and eighth grades both strived, was several times placed in the hands of the seventh graders.

Leadership in the class could be found in all corners. There was always someone ready to accept the many responsibilities. Room 104, with Miss Zoe Olla Wilt as adviser, chose for leaders the following students: president, Gloria Jean Rutter; vice president, Annabelle Price; secretary and treasurer, Betty Jean Sweezy; and chaplain, Theda Pote. Likewise room 202, under the direction of Miss Martha Gearhart, chose the following: Sarah Gillette, president; Joyce Douglas, vice president; Lois Blyler, secretary and treasurer; and Jean Hess, chaplain.

With the above named leaders the two homerooms were constantly vying for first place in the varied fields of competition. Room 104 really surpassed room 202 when it came to winning prizes connected with the junior high circus. The first prizes for selling the most tickets and for supplying the most candy to be sold were both awarded to that group.

For its presentation in the circus, room 202 presented some very successful clowns whose capers rivalled those of professional men. Not content with this alone, they sold hot dogs. Room 104 presented the Dionne quintuplets.

Attention! Take some glimpses of what goes on while the school is at work. No doubt there is a little doodling too.

In the chemistry class, Mr. Kearney helps the students perform many interesting experiments as well as advising them when they are uncertain and puzzled concerning a solution.

Miss Patterson arouses much interest in an English class with oral talks of different phases of literature followed by student criticism. This is where expression and originality count.

With Mr. Stoudnour in P.O.D. class, the students engage in lively discussions on up-to-the-minute problems of modern society. Here the student learns that it is he himself who determines the future of his country. The Scholastic magazine is commonly in use to keep the student informed in current affairs, and likewise, current events form an important part of the routine in the American history class of Mr. Shellenberger.

The future secretaries learn to balance ledgers under the direction of Miss Pickles while the Future Farmers study the scientific ways of agriculture with Mr. Bressler. In the shop, too, many are working for future vocations. Here, Mr. Nye instructs the boys in woodworking. Other types of work in this course are the study of electricity and sheet metal work.

While Mr. Wolf comments on the plans of the mechanical drawing students, Mr. Chimente aids another class in geometric drawings and their solutions. Both afford training in clear, logical, and accurate thinking.

See! Oui! Miss Smiley has a second year French class. What if there is a substitution of a little English. Some wouldn't know the difference, but what—French students can't always be wrong.

A homeroom period affords quite a little diversion. Some take advantage to catch up on some back study work while others catch up socially. Varied programs are carried out to the pleasures of all.

The students of our school have every advantage to put into real practice the facts which they are learning; it is practice that makes perfect.

Students Use New Game Facilities

Junior high has introduced many new activities this year. Moving smoothly to the strains of popular music, the pupils of the Social Dancing club are finding out how much fun tripping the light fantastic can be. These students, who support this group, dance wherever they can find space, and they love it.

Zoom!! A model airplane from Mr. Dilling's club soars into the blue. Boys make up this group. As an indication of their ability and interest, all one has to do is look at the fine, sleek models that they are turning out. The boys engaged in this work by learning the designs and the features of airplanes begin to train for a wide open field.

Upstairs is the new game room. A neat ping-pong set, some checker sets, and many other games keep the leisure time of the pupils filled in a thoroughly enjoyable way. Although there is not enough equipment for all, many of the students get more fun from watching and commenting than from participation.

Junior high's library has increased by so many books that the Monitors' club, which looks over and takes care of the volumes, has grown in membership and duties. The Safety Patrol, too, has been enlarged so that every corner is fully protected for the students.

In the auditorium the students have made great strides. One can hear the cheerleaders yelling, "What do you think it is? A funeral? Come on! Let's put our all into this last cheer!". Then one ought to be able to see the whole place rock as they "pour it on".

With the stage junior high pupils have an advantage over senior high. About every two weeks their Dramatic club presents an assembly program. These plays, usually short and comical, bring down the house; it would be well worth folding money to see them

Junior high's program is, however, only beginning to grow. Yet we can say that this year it is "bigger and better" than ever before!

ATHLETICS

Hollidaysburg Athleti

★ Since there is no pencil with which to scribble or no sheet of paper to tear, the sport doodlers are of a different type. Hartsock, for instance, likes to hold a basketball in one hand; Mentzer tries to put the football out of bounds on the one-yard stripe; and, "Smitty" and Suter seem to get a lot of fun out of teasing Rege Piper. Athletics give to the students a chance to develop physically—something that no other portion of the High School curriculum offers—Gym classes, a part of athletics, extend this opportunity to every student. Just look to see!!

Coaches Chimenti and Mentzer get a "kick" out of the boys pushing the "sled."

H-Burg Gridmen Display Fighting Spirit

The Blue and White's 1940 gridmen displayed throughout the season the grit and fight, the loyalty and determination, that enabled Coaches Chimente and Mentzer to lead them through the toughest schedule in many years with only two defeats. A description of this fine season follows:—

September 13 H-Burg 14 Saxton 0

The Golden Tigers launched their grid campaign at Dysart Park by defeating a shifty Saxton High team 14-0. A Saxton fumble set up the Burg's first score. The ball was taken by the Tigers on the eleven yard line and was carried over two plays later by Frank McGee. Mentzer's place kick added another point. The second score climaxed a sixty yard march in which four straight first downs were reeled off. This touchdown was also made by McGee. Edwards added another point by taking a perfect pass from Mentzer.

September 20 H-Burg 14 Franklin Boro 6

Franklin High's Blue Jays invaded Dysart Park to provide a high spot in the Burg's season. After a scoreless first quarter in one of those give and take ball games with neither team showing any great advantage, the Burg finally drew first blood early in the second period. In an exchange of punts Mentzer's toe set the first score as he booted out of bounds on the two yard mark. A hurried kick from behind the Jay's goal was good for only thirty-two yards so the Burg took over on the twenty-eight yard line. A pass, Mentzer to Bardell, was good for a six point score. Mentzer converted to put the Burg out in front 7-0. On the kick-off following the score, Franklin's left-half brought the crowds out of their seats with a brilliant display of broken field running from his own eighteen yard line to the local's goal to score. Failing to add the extra point, the Jays trailed 7-6 going into the final quarter. The Burg scored again in the final period by taking advantage of a short punt, to win by a 14-6 count.

September 27 H-Burg 20 Williamsburg 6

The Burg team brought laurels on their shoulders by defeating the Williamsburg

Stars of the Gridiron

champions 20-6. The Blue and White team scored in each of the first two periods and succeeded in stopping the Williamsburg power until the final quarter. A Mentzer to Johnson pass accounted for the first score after a forty yard Burg drive. Mentzer converted for the extra point. In the second period Edwards tallied for the Burg on a thirteen yard run. McGee scored after a forty-six yard march in the final quarter. Williamsburg drove the Burg back sixty-eight yards in the same quarter for their only score.

October 4 H-Burg 0 Philipsburg 0

In a colorless exhibition of good football Philipsburg and Hollidaysburg battled through a scoreless evening on the Burg field. Line play of outstanding quality featured the evening's proceedings. Beautifully executed plays were as beautifully wrecked by the opposing walls. Passers were hurried; punting on both sides was good, and receivers were hit down in their tracks. When the timer called a halt to the four periods, both camps had exhausted themselves in one of the toughest ball games of the season in which neither side had scored.

October 11 H-Burg 6 Ebensburg 13

The Burg High men, playing away for the first time of this season, threw a scare into the highly rated Ebensburg High Indians. The Cambria county team scored twice in the second period, while Hollidaysburg drove fifty-two yards to score in the third quarter. The Cambrians piled up fifteen first downs to the seven gained by the Burgers. The Ebensburg scores came as results of a sixty-nine yard run and a forty-four yard drive. Late in the game the Burg threatened another score but lost the ball on a fumble.

October 18 H-Burg 7 Somerset 6

An underdog Somerset team nearly upset the Tigers by battling them to a 7-6 count. The Burg team intercepted a pass in the second quarter, and after two first downs Edwards crossed from the three yard mark. Mentzer converted for the winning point. The Somerset team scored in the final period after marching fifty-nine yards. The attempt for the extra point failed, so the game was saved for the Burg.

October 25 H-Burg 19 Roaring Springs 0

The Golden Tigers battled a scrappy Roaring Spring team to a 19-0 score. The Spring team threatened once in the third quarter, but the Burg team took possession of the ball on downs. The Chimentemen kept the pressure on the whole way and climaxed long drives to score in the first and third quarters. Scores were made by Mentzer, Edwards, and Lingenfelter.

November 2 H-Burg 13 Huntingdon 13

The Huntingdon Bearcats and the Hollidaysburg Tigers put on a thriller for the Dysart Park fans in a Saturday afternoon game. The Burg team scored first by reeling off fifty-nine yards in three consecutive first downs. Mentzer finally crossed for the tally. The Bearcats scored late in the second period on a forty-four yard run and again in the third quarter on a pass. The try for the extra point was successful after the second Huntingdon score. Late in the game Ken Weise broke through the Bearcat's line to block a punt which the Burg recovered on the Cat's seven yard line. McGee scored and Mentzer added the placement point to tie the game.

November 11 H-Burg 2 Tyrone 6

The Chimentemen dropped the second away game of the season to the Tyrone Orangemen. A downpour of rain that started about noon turned the field into a sea of mud and water by game time. Both teams fought desperately to score, but it was not until the third quarter that Tyrone was able to cross the Burg goal line. The Burg team, playing what was probably its best game of the year, threatened early in the game and again in the third and fourth quarters but was unable to score. Near the end of the game, a Tyrone back touched the ball to the ground behind his own goal line rather than have a kick blocked by a Burg lineman. After this Burg score neither team could do much, and the game ended with the locals on the short end of a 6-2 score.

The Junior High Gridmen

While Senior High gridmen worked through hard practice, the Junior ball toters sweated in obscure corners of Dysart Park under the guidance of Coach Harvey Serfass. These hours of busy practice proved to be one of the big factors that enabled the Cherry and White boys to come through the season with the creditable record of one win, one tie, and two losses. The team, composed almost entirely of inexperienced ninth graders, developed rapidly the speed and stamina required of hard playing gridmen. The only letterman from the '39 season on the Burg team was the quarterback, Dewey Bardell.

Broad Top township provided the curtain-raiser for the Junior High fans. In a dull exhibition of football the Cherry and White gridders battled the Broad Top team to a 0-0 deadlock. The "Serfass-men" muffed several scoring chances after long sustained drives. Speed and precision featured the Burg's attack. Broad Top failed to capitalize on their one scoring chance which came late in the second quarter. A fumble, resulting in the loss of the ball, enabled the Burg to take over inside the twenty-five yard marker.

The Junior High team traveled to Curwensville for their first "away" encounter of the season. One of the cars in which most of the first team were riding "broke down" and did not arrive until early in the third quarter. The second team started the game and did so well that by the time the regulars arrived the game was "in the bag." The team scored in each of the periods for a total of 32 points. Curwensville was not given a chance to get their shifty backfield men in the open. Brilliant line play by Hollidaysburg intercepted many of Curwensville's potential scoring plays.

Lock Haven Junior High was the Cherry and White's next foe. The game, played on the Lock Haven field, delighted the fans with its frequent spills and thrills. From the very beginning it was evident that the game was going to be contested to the end. Lock Haven got the jump on the Burg team by scoring after a long drive. Although the Juniors High boys fought desperately they could not drive the Lock Haven team back for a score. The game ended with Lock Haven on the long end of a 6-0 tally.

Philipsburg Breaks Deadlock

The Philipsburg team saw the breaking of a three year deadlock. The two teams had previously played through two scoreless games and a 6-6 tie. The Blue and White Philipsburg team came through with enough power to down the Cherry and White team for the first time by a 12-0 score.

As a climax to the season the members of the football team were guests at a banquet given in their honor. Coach Serfass complimented the team on their good work and urged them to work even harder in Senior High. The Junior High School Principal, Harry E. Henshaw, praised the boys for their good sportsmanship and excellent teamwork.

At a later date in a special Junior High assembly Coach Serfass presented varsity letters to fourteen boys and numerals to the rest of the group.

Cagemen Win Honors

The arrival of Coach Herbert Peterson to Hollidaysburg High, early season practice, and a large crop of both experienced and inexperienced candidates accounted for the Burg's finest basketball season in some years. Fast moving floor work and good ball handling, mastered through hours of practice, made possible this excellent season.

Captain Loenshal, Paul McDermitt, Malone, Mentzer, Haller, Hartsock, and Rice formed the nucleus of Coach Peterson's squad.

The Blue and White team opened its season on December 17 by defeating Williamsburg 26-19.

Everett and Bigler fell victims of the Burg aggression in quick succession by scores of 24-9 and 43-12.

Hollidaysburg opened the Mountain High League season by defeating Mount Union 27-25. McDermitt made the winning basket in the last ten seconds of play.

Good defensive work and clever ball handling featured the Lewistown game which went to the Burg 27-20.

The renewal of athletic relationship between Hollidaysburg and Altoona provided the fans with the thriller of the season. The game was undecided until the last half minute of play.

Score Altoona 29, H-Burg 28. Hollidaysburg evened things, however, by trouncing Altoona 34-29 on the home floor.

Two games in succession were dropped to Roaring Spring and Huntingdon by 24-26 and 25-31 scores. The 'Spring game was another thriller, being an overtime affair.

Another "close one" was staged when Tyrone topped the Burg 24-26. They repeated this trick later in the season by a 32-40 score. This last defeat cost the Burg a tie with the Huntingdon league champs, as the latter dropped to Philipsburg the same evening.

Wins over Philipsburg, Mount Union, Huntingdon, Lewistown, Roaring Spring, and Everett brought the season to a grand close.

Joe Haller, a Junior, topped the Mountain High League scorers with 103 points and his teammates with 185 points.

Seniors that will be lost to the squad by graduation are Captain Loenshal, Paul McDermitt, Joe Malone, and Marion Mentzer. Coach Peterson will have a difficult job to find boys to "fill the shoes" of these fine players.

Jay Vee Basketball

Inter-squad scrimmages and frequent ball handling practices gave Coach Peterson's Jay Vee squad the necessary experienced men to complete the varsity lineup.

Williamsburg provided the first opposition of the season by defeating the Burg 25-15. Among the group who played this game were Jim Bender, Dick McDermitt, Stan Brua, Dan Wagner, Austin Helsel, and Charles Ritchey. It was from this group of boys that Coach Peterson chose his varsity reserves.

Defeats at the hands of Everett and Mount Union followed in quick succession by 25-14 and 21-19 scores respectively.

The next two encounters saw the Jay Vees piling up the highest point totals of the year. The Hollidaysburg Y.M.C.A. Juniors were easy victims of a Burg squad that featured teamwork. The first half was one of those "nip and tuck" affairs which ended with a 16-12 score. During the second half, however, the Jay Vees ran wild and amassed a total of 33 points to defeat the "Y" team 33-20. The Lewistown team was overwhelmed by the same teamwork that had defeated the "Y" team. While the Burg boys were piling up the score they held the visiting team to only 15 points. The final score was 31-15.

The second league defeat was handed the Jay Vees by the Philipsburg squad. Philipsburg led at the half 7-6 and built this lead up to a 19-15 defeat for Hollidaysburg.

In a non-league game Roaring Spring was defeated on the home floor. The locals came from behind to win by a 17-10 tally after trailing 5-7 at the half.

The Jay Vees struck a snag in the Huntingdon aggregation and were not able to score at all in the first half and scored only eight points in the last half. Huntingdon was held to twelve points each half for a total score of twenty-four.

In a return game the "Y" team downed the Jay Vees 24-20. Not more than two points separated the teams until near the end of the game when the "Y" rolled one in for a total of 24.

In the remaining league encounters Hollidaysburg dropped two to Tyrone, 19-15 and 33-14. Mount Union again won by a score of 22-14; Lewistown atoned for an earlier defeat by defeating the Burg 29-9; Philipsburg was defeated 16-12; and Huntingdon repeated the former defeat by a 26-16 count.

Two more non-league games were accounted for by drubbing Roaring Spring 23-11 and losing to Everett 33-17.

Junior High Basketball

The Junior High courtmen advanced by the end of the season into the experienced players needed to fill the positions of future senior high squads. Under the tutelage of Coach Harvey Serfass, the Junior High combination developed new types of play, such as zone defense and a fast-break offense. This was the first year the Junior cagers used the zone defense, a feature which proved very successful. The season's record includes eleven wins and five losses.

On January 10, the Philipsburg Mountaineers provided the first opposition of the season. Although the game was well-played by the Burg team, the Blue and White squad managed to defeat them by the score of 17-11.

The Serfass coached team bounced back from their opening set-back and started a winning streak which lasted for the next six games. Williamsburg was "cinchy". After a top-heavy first half, Coach Serfass allowed the eighth grade reserves to pile up the victory score of 31-5.

Roaring Spring and Tyrone were humbled in quick succession by scores of 13-5 and 19-7 respectively.

The junior high squad pulled a pleasant surprise by upsetting the favored Roosevelt team 16-15. This was probably the high spot of the Burg's season.

Victories over Bellwood-Antis and Tyrone completed the longest winning streak of the year. The Burg had little trouble with either team as can be seen by the respective scores of 21-6 and 22-10.

Keith Junior High administered the worst defeat of the season to the Cherry and White team by a score of 33-5. The lanky visitors proved too much for the smaller Burg team.

Defeats at the hands of Roosevelt and Philipsburg followed. After grueling first halfs the local boys tired, and the opposition romped to victory. The Roosevelt score was 27-14 while the Philipsburg score was 32-9.

The team hit their stride again in an "away" game with Williamsburg. "No punches were pulled", and the Burg went on to pile up the season's high tally of 39-15.

Following another victory over Roaring Spring by the score of 14-11, the Cherry and White boys dropped the second game to Keith. The final score of this game was 31-10.

The team repeated their previous victory over Bellwood-Antis in one of those "Breathers". Again Coach Serfass used reserves to amass the 31-6 score.

The Cherry and White season closed with two games with Bedford. The game at Bedford was dropped by a 23-21 score. At home the Junior High squad defeated Bedford 34-19.

Cindermen Close Successful Season

March 30 marked the opening of another successful season for the Hollidaysburg High track and field squad. When the Pitt Interscholastic meet came to a close in the late afternoon, the Burg Blue and White team had placed tenth among twenty-five schools from Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia. "Luke" Black placed second in the pole vault, topping 11 feet 6 inches, and McGee tied for fourth place in the high jump event.

The second meet of the season was held at Dysart park under the finest weather conditions possible. Clean sweeps in the 100-yard and 200-yard sprints enabled the Tyrone High team to eke out a victory by the score of 60⅓ to 57⅔.

The Shippensburg Invitation meet title was successfully defended by the Blue and White team. Hollidaysburg scored 30½ points to second place Hershey High School's 24½. In amassing this total the team won three first places and tied for another. The only double winner of the meet was Black who won both on broad jump and the pole vault.

The Bellwood Invitation meet, held on April 27, found the Burg team without Coach Mentzer and the five distance men who were at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia. Hollidaysburg won three first places but were unable to place in the distance runs. McGee, showing his best form of the season, came near breaking the school high jump record by clearing 5 feet 11 inches. This was within a fraction of an inch of the record of 5 feet 11 ⅝ inches.

As a climax to a very successful season the Mountain High track title was awarded to the Burg squad. Hollidaysburg scored 40⅓ points to win the meet at State College. The Burg won five first places with Barr giving the track team a double victory by winning the 220 and 440 yard runs.

Physical Education

Informality is the keynote of the Physical Education class organization.

The students are permitted to choose their activities from long lists of both group and individual games. Basketball and volleyball are the most popular group games, while archery is very popular as an individual sport.

With the coming of Spring and good weather the gym classes move out of doors to include an even greater group of sports and games. Track fundamentals are most interesting to the boys, and both boys and girls enjoy the softball games. The tennis courts are re-reserved every day for pupils who wish to use them during gym period.

★ Activities! What does this word mean to you? To most of us, it is a little work mixed with a lot of fun. If you look at the expressions on the faces of those in various clubs, you will get the impression that they have accomplished something. Don't they look proud? Just look at the H-Burger and Chimrock Staffs. Believe it or not, they really published a newspaper and wrote a book. With the aid of the activities ticket, our play attendance has increased and all other activities have benefited greatly from it. Just see for yourself!

Activities Ticket Prove Successful

Mr. Wagner was worried; Mr. Loree was worried; as a matter of fact so were the teachers and students. Too many bottles of red ink were selling in the stores of Hollidaysburg. Something had to be done! The Athletic Fund was sinking further and further into the red; class plays, even though they were good, could have called opening night "a dress rehearsal", and the H-Burger had become a "carbon copy".

Pupils wanted to support all of these things, but it just seemed too steady a drain on their pocketbooks. Yes, something had to be done! But what? Well, after long deliberation, the best solution seemed to be an activities ticket. Students were sent to several schools where they made amazing discoveries! For in these schools people were turned away from plays and basketball games, and their papers had enough money for twelve printed issues—with pictures!

Wouldn't it be swell if Hollidaysburg could do things like that? Well, why can't we was the decision of all. The program started under the direction of William Stotz. This year Glenn Bressler was then appointed chairman of a teacher-student group which was to organize the Hollidaysburg Activities Ticket Book. The members are Miss Dorothy Harpster, Miss Mary Pickles, Myrtle Anderson, Dick Karl, and John Woodcock. Theirs was a big job. They had to present to the students more than their money's worth and still have enough to cover expenses.

Included in the activities book were seven home football games, a long list of basketball contests, at least two plays, the H-Burger, the Minstrels, and the Variety Show. Two uptown movies were added as a feature attraction; three special assemblies with a promise of more came next; then came more and more.

Finally, the price was considered. Five dollars would be cheap, yet it would be too much. Three dollars cash and three fifty by the payment plan seemed the best idea for it gave to the student, in any case, over a dollar fifty in saving.

Certainly such a book would sell! The Chimrock helped out by offering cash prizes to the class that would buy the most. Mr. Wagner bought the first ticket, and, despite the Board's worried moments, sales boomed. In the first year over 450 books were sold; all of the activities have been able to cancel some of their debts or write in the blue. In addition the students have been so well pleased that the Board believes that next year they will be able to offer more attractions at the same low price!

Chimrock Staff Solves Perplexing Problems

The same old story . . . what shall be the theme . . . what style shall be used . . . how many sections . . . what shall they be . . . what kind of cover? These and a hundred other perplexing questions faced those who planned the 1941 Chimrock.

Finally the "dummy" was completed, and every member of the staff eagerly began work on his assignment. Certain days were set aside for classroom, club, candid camera, and outdoor action sport shots. In uncertain weather as it was, there was always a worry planning for pictures. Almost anytime, Griff Jones, the faculty adviser to the staff, could be seen strolling along the halls with his candid camera man. Wandering over to the new Chimrock office, in use for the first time this year, one could see the business managers, Naomi Brua and Doris Keller, busily counting out money and writing receipts. Although with dirty faces, the advertising staff came through very successfully, and, believe it or not, their task proved to be lots of fun as well as work. The editorial group was in a frantic rush to get write-ups in on time as the dead-line for assignments drew near. Frequently staff meetings were called for checks and double-checks. The typists, too, were in an uproar to get the Chimrock off to press. At last the book was in the printer's hand.

In this, your Chimrock, the highlights of the school year have been preserved. May it bring back many fond memories of your alma mater in future years.

Journalists at Work

H-Burger Staff Adds New Features

"Extra! Extra! Read all about it!" These cries might well be shouted by the circulation department of the H-Burger, for the 1940-41 edition of the paper certainly contained all the news worth knowing about school life at Hollidaysburg High.

Let's look behind the scenes to see what has made this year's edition of the paper a vast improvement over that of last year. The sale of the activities ticket has made many new features possible. Surely anyone knows there is an improvement from a mimeographed paper to a printed one. The staff purchased a new machine called the "Redimat" for making cuts, and a kit of tools to aid the art students in producing finer drawings. With the use of these and informal balance the staff attempted to streamline or modernize the paper. Two new features introduced were "Who Are They" and "Campus News".

During the year the staff attended the Blair County Scholastic Convention which was held in Altoona, the purpose of which was to provide the students an opportunity to exchange ideas for better papers. Ten members of the staff also attended the fifteenth annual conference of the Pennsylvania School Press Association at Pittsburgh. Their program there was recreational as well as educational.

Thus the staff, under the guidance of Miss Martha O'Brien, published twelve issues of the H-Burger and very efficiently, too, if anyone should ask you. Perhaps some of them will be famous news correspondents or editors in the future.

"A Better School"—Aim of Student Group

It's "safe" to say that Walter A. Kearney deserves a great deal of credit for the excellent services rendered to school and community alike by his safety council. Mr. Kearney, with Francis Bender, the safety commissioner and his two helpers, James Madden and Dorothy McKee, has endeavored with this group to prevent accidents, cure conditions which might result in accidents, and promote general welfare.

At the beginning of the year six committees were formed to carry out the work. Foremost among these is the Inspection Committee. Each member of the council belongs to one of four groups and once a month makes a visit to a Hollidaysburg public school building to check on safety there.

Secondary in importance is the Safe Ways Code Committee which takes laws for its code from council discussion, plans home safety bulletins, and makes criticisms of the fire drills.

Four other committees equally important, have charge of programs for council and assembly meetings, safe play for the students, first aid in case of accident, and information and publicity.

While the Safety Council has met the responsibility of safeguarding the safety of the students, the National Honor Society has fostered the development of citizenship.

The foremost aim of the National Honor Society is to make good citizenship in high schools a matter of distinction. The membership of this exemplary body comprises those students who excel in sterling qualities of scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Students are selected in their junior year when, after filling the above qualifications, they are chosen by National Honor Society members and the faculty. Throughout the year under the symbol of the Keystone and the flaming torch, this body provides constant inspiration as an example and a goal for the entire student body.

Under the leadership of Cletus Miller, president of the organization; Lloyd Suter, vice-president; and Mary Jane McDonnell, secretary-treasurer, and with the advice of Miss Flora Smiley, the National Honor Society sponsors a dance, holds two inductions yearly, and exchanges programs with other Honor Societies.

It is the duty of the National Honor Society to uphold the policies that the Student Council decides are for the betterment of the school.

The Student Council, composed of pupils elected by class and homeroom, is the group which holds the responsibility of supervising school activities and is the student governing body. The year 1940-41 has seen this group working hard. Perhaps the star event for the council during this season proved to be when the Kane Conference elected Hollidaysburg as State Secretary.

The council accomplishes much for the school by selling candy and coca-cola at the basketball games, sponsoring busses to the latter, and holding dances after the same. The sale of name cards to the seniors and the sponsoring of the school Christmas tree are included in the council's schedule.

Noon-time activities have long been the foremost job of the council, since its origin in 1937, and in 1941 it surpassed its records as ping-pong and dancing vied with each other for the favors of the students.

Policy-forming as this group is, it suggested and strongly upheld the idea of no home-work over the week-ends. This policy met with the hearty approval of the students, but a less cheerful welcome by administration and faculty.

The council's final plan for sending the patrol boys to Washington has not yet been formulated.

Wholehearted congratulations are due the members of the council for their wise governmental spirit.

Music

New Equipment Aids Band

The jitterbug questions, "Anything new in music at H-Burg this year?" And the "Doodlebug" scribbles the following note in reply, "Oh yes, plenty of new ideas in music."

"You see it all begins with the jitterbug students. Since they aren't able to dance during school hours, they decided to sing! From new books entitled "Songs We Sing", the students pour forth their energy on old favorites, jolly rounds, and ditties that make everyone laugh.

Seven new instruments—three trombones, three clarinets, and one baritone horn—purchased this year added zest to the music of the band. Under the able leadership of Cyrus D. Thompson, who has charge of the music department, the students found the band directing their eager steps and voices to the football field, where its tempo helped determine the swing of the team toward success or failure.

In front of the band, which marches on Memorial and Armistice days, plays in the G. W. Williams Anniversary Concert, serenades a Civil War Veteran, and helps in Civic organizations, three important figures step high—Mary Lightner, to whom a toast of "she's tops" is given, as Drum Major, and her two baton twirling colleagues—Doris Claycombe and Madeline Baker.

Climbing a definite "crescendo" in progression comes the Senior High Orchestra, well-known musical institution of H-Burg, that appears once in assembly, in the pit at every play, and outside activities. All-district or All-State meets hold the eye of the group composed of senior high members and those very advanced junior high pupils.

Minstrels Please Large Crowd

If you're looking for a good one-word description of the Junior Orchestra, "Determination" makes an excellent one. One year of work with this group that has its eye to the future usually calls for promotion and new interests.

Mr. Thompson's strong defense for making music an institution of H-Burg fame is his Senior Chorus, a body which specializes in precision singing and the development of solo work. Music week and special holidays offer self or group expression to all of the music groups, but particularly to the Chorus, whose abilities seem definitely fitted for this type of entertaining.

Even the lowly "Doodle-bug" wishes to add his bit, with many others, in giving Mr. Thompson praise for his patience, efforts, and results for this year. His finest achievement for the progression of music, not only in this school but in schools all over the state, has been his special report card. This will be much like the regular one, having instead of English or mathematics, technique or tone quality. So many points are given for each which when added up determine an accurate grade.

Students and Faculty! You must agree that the contribution of the music department to the enjoyment of the school as a whole has been noteworthy. Witness the "Minstrels of 1941," an amusing performance, considered the best to date of the annual shows.

Wilfrid Benton, acting as interlocutor, introduced Poony, Seldomfed, Jack and Bill; respectively Francis Bender, Clyde Caldwell, John Fyock, and William Wilt. As endmen, these four fellows threw one surprise after another. Seldomfed had trouble with his "sat-in" trousers, Jack was careful to hide his money in his stocking, and Poony and Bill made the "Little House upon the hill" seem very real. Between this fun-making the audience enjoyed hearing about "Snoops the Lawyer", and the "Old Spinning Wheel", and seeing an electric guitar and a rubber man in action.

Juniors and Seniors Produce Plays

The rising "doodle-bug" offers congratulations to the talents discovered in this year's dramatic performances. Under the direction of Miss Dorothy E. Harpster, the seniors and the juniors produced good plays. Scenery construction and improvements were made by Merle E. Nye and his student crew.

"Once There Was A Princess", by the class of 1942, boasted an interesting plot.

Delores Irwin played the starring role of a small town girl who, having married a prince, returns to her home with the hope of taking up her old life. She is dismayed to find elaborate plans are being made to greet a "real live princess" as she is told by little Hazel, played by Dorothy Kunsman.

Mistaken for a seamstress by all but her old sweetheart, Phil, Richard Krape, and her Uncle Joe Boyd, Bill Robinson, she decides that she must keep up the pretense, but finds happiness in the end.

The tale of her arrival, with Jean Metzler playing the part of Aunt Kate, is very clever. Jane Putman, Margaret Leedom, and Dan Kuhn comprise a fine supporting cast.

The world is full of "Big Hearted Herberts", and their suffering families, but if all of these families could get out of that rut as amusingly as the Kalness family did, life would be merry indeed.

John Housum played the part of Herbert Kalness, who believes that his family is heading him for the poor-house. The rest of his family included Elizabeth, his wife, played by Betty Delozier, his two sons, played by John Ott and Edward Forsht, and his daughter, Alice, played by Agnes Chingos.

The heroine of the plot is Elizabeth, who by means of two extravagantly different dinners, manages to convince her husband that Herbert Jr. is not cut out to be a factory worker, that Alice should marry the man of her choice, Andrew Goodrich, played by Paul Noel, and that the whole family deserves a rest from the tyranny of "Big Hearted Herbert".

Supporting this clever character sketch were Myrtle Anderson, Craig Walls, Eris Shaw, Charles Olewine, Evelyn Reighard, Peggy Smith, and Robert Hyle.

Student Clubs

New Clubs Add Interest to Program

"Group II clubs today". Each Wednesday the familiar sign of what club group was meeting that day could be seen posted on the main bulletin board. On alternate Wednesdays the clubs comprising either Group I or Group II met, and few indeed were the number of boys and girls who were not enrolled in at least one club.

Among the new clubs this year was the Archery club under the direction of Mrs. Ann Swallow and Merle Nye. This club has about ninety would-be Robin Hoods. What fun! They are not only learning how to hit the bulls-eye, but how to make the necessary equipment—bows, arrows, targets, and arm guards.

Have you been aware of the increased charm among the girls of the school lately? It is the work of the Charm club, directed by Miss Martha O'Brien. The young misses are learning how to apply their make-up properly, and finding out what kind of clothes they ought or ought not to wear. Those Christmas carols that were sung in the main hall at noon on December 20 were also the product of this club.

And speaking of music, Miss Mary D. Pickles' Girls' Glee club do their share of singing also. They sing all the popular songs and also use the new school song books, "Songs We Sing." Ah! maybe we have some Jenny Linds or Thomas Moore's around here, too.

The Junior-Senior Dramatics club is developing talent all around. Its members are actors, make-up artists, and stage managers. From time to time they show their work through a play in assembly. Remember the comedy, "Never Trust A Man?" I thought I'd die laughing when Rachel Moudy hunted for a chair before she fainted. Wasn't Helen Snyder as Aunt Hatty funny? Her costume! Ann McKnight, Jean Ritchey, Lois Miller, and Lois Horner did their best too. They are not Barrymore's or Bernhardt's yet—but give them time. Miss Margery Reed is their director.

The Library club had a variety of activities. In club period they read, give book reports, play games, or discuss new books with their adviser, Mrs. Mildred Campbell. A lot of good books were reviewed in assembly one afternoon by some of the members—Margaret Botsford, Arletta Saupp, John Woodcock, Marybelle Greenawalt, and Richard Royer.

Miss Margaret McIlroy's Girls Hobby club really gets things done. All the members are making scrapbooks about their hobbies. Once a month each girl reports on the progress of her hobby. Some of their scrapbooks are about poetry, music, photographs, pets, hair styles, menus, and post cards. Democracy is the subject of one of the most worth-while and interesting scrap books.

Each boy in the Boys Hobby club works on his project in club period. They are doing both wood and metal work and making tie-racks, footstools, and smoking stands. Merle Nye is their director.

Miss Evelyn Deen's Travel club discusses all phases of travel—from how to carry your money on a trip to the services rendered by the A.A.A. Different members of the club have told about travels to Canada, Mexico, and all parts of the United States. Often outside speakers talk to the club. Mr. John Hunter, one of their guests this year showed the club moving pictures. Club members show their collections of purchases made while traveling to the club.

The girls in the Needlecraft club, under the direction of Mrs. Mary McKerihan, have a variety of activities—sewing, knitting, crocheting, or embroidering. In club period a number of the girls work on some smart new additions to their wardrobes. Besides working on projects, the girls read style books and magazines. They also study the valuable material found on the bulletin board in the home economics room.

What would we ever do without William Shellenberger and his Athletic Managers club? They're always on the job. The football team, the basketball team, the track squad, and the baseball teams couldn't get along without the managers to carry water buckets, towels, and first-aid kits and to check equipment.

Everybody who goes into Mr. Wolf's homeroom can see the fine work his Model Airplane club is doing. The club is working on both regular flying models and gas models. They spend a lot of time discussing the different types of military planes being built and flown by the United States Army. Didn't you enjoy that assembly program they had? Everyone was afraid that rope connected to the gas model would break and the fast moving plane would hit some of the students. Luckily, it held.

The Chapter of the Future Farmers of America here at school is under Glenn Bressler's direction. The boys have a number of interesting projects, including the chick project and the new hotbed, behind the school. They help in the Annual Farm Show and Farm City Banquet. Frank Weir and Clair McCaully, members of the club, attended the National Farm Show at Kansas City. In assembly they told us all about their trip from the time they left Hollidaysburg in Mr. Bressler's Mercury, until their safe return.

The Drum Major club which began only last year is carrying on its fine work of training new majorettes. In club period Cyrus D. Thompson teaches the members the fundamentals of twirling, marching, and leading the band. Nobody can deny that they give the band an added touch.

The students in Miss Margaret McIlroy's Social club are reading and learning Emily Post. Haven't you noticed a little more courtesy in the corridors?

The Boys' Tumbling club is really good this year. They "strutted their stuff" for the program during National Educational Week, and for the Civics club. This club's supervisor is Richard Mentzer.

Miss Dorothy Harpster and Miss Rebecca Patterson direct the Sophomore Dancing club. When the students hear the whistle calling for order, they think it's a raid or something. This club is open only to sophomores who cannot dance at all and who desire to learn how to trip the light fantastic.

The H-Club is open only to boys who have won a varsity letter in any major sport. Coach Vincent Chimente is the supervisor. The boys from this club took tickets at the doors and ushered at the basketball games. What would we ever have done without these boys to find seats for the many people on the crowded bleachers at the Altoona and Huntingdon games?

Everyone in Hollidaysburg high school can find one or two clubs to suit his taste whether it be music, athletics, farming, etiquette, dancing, charm, or what have you.

An Appreciation . . .

We, the members of the 1941 Chimrock Staff, were thrilled when we discovered that we were selected to edit the yearbook, but when the time came to do the work, the edge to the "thrill" was lost. Although we knew what an annual looked like, and something about a "dummy" and a "printer's copy," we could not have made the book a success without the inspiration and advice of our adviser—Griff Jones, the correcting of the copy by the English department, and the help of Miss Florence Brown—art teacher.

We also wish to thank our patrons and advertisers, without whom our book could not have been published. We urge that our subscribers patronize the merchants whose advertisements appear on the following pages.

ADVERTISEMENTS

From 341 B.C. to 1941 A.D.

. . . represents a long span of years in human history—years which have produced such would-be world dictators as Alexander, Caesar, Genghis Khan, Napoleon—and Hitler. Yet each, after his few brief years of power, has disappeared,—and been forgotten as life itself pushes ever forward to its own destiny.

1941, in the light of all history, is but an incident, as even the Indian Chief Nezahualcoyotl recognized of his own time five hundred years ago, in leaving us these words:

> "All things on earth have their term, and, in the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, their strength fails and they sink into dust. All the round world is but a sepulchre; and there is nothing, which lives on its surface, that shall not be hidden and entombed beneath it. Rivers, torrents, and streams move on to their destination; they rush onward to bury themselves in the deep bosom of the ocean. The things of yesterday are no more today and the things of today will cease perhaps tomorrow. The cemetery is full of loathsome dust of bodies once quickened by living souls, who occupied thrones, presided over assemblies, marshalled armies, subdued provinces, arrogated to themselves worship, were puffed up with vainglorious pomp and power and empire.
> "But these glories have all passed away,—with no other memorial of their existence than the record on the page of the Chronicler. The great, the wise, the valiant, the beautiful—alas! where are they now?—they are mingled with the clod; and that which has befallen them shall happen to us, and to those that come after us. Yet let us take courage, illustrious nobles and chieftains, true friends and loyal subjects—let us aspire to that heaven, where all is eternal, and corruption cannot come."
